

22

ARCHITECTURE

5 LESSONS

PHASE 2 · CORE SECURITY

Secure Architecture & Design

Designing systems that fail safely: defense in depth, zero trust, security by design, threat modeling, and the patterns architects actually use.

01

Defense in Depth: Layers, Not Walls

BEGINNER

CONCEPT

Why single controls fail, and how layered, independent controls make ...

30 min →

02

Zero Trust: Never Trust, Always Verify

INTERMEDIATE

CONCEPT

From perimeter castle-and-moat to continuous identity-based verificat...

40 min →

03

Security by Design & Secure Defaults

INTERMEDIATE

CONCEPT

Build it safe from day one: design principles, the principle of least...

30 min →

04

Threat Modeling in Practice: STRIDE + DFD

ADVANCED

LAB

Build a data-flow diagram and run STRIDE against a real microservice ...

45 min →

05

Security Metrics & Architecture Governance

ADVANCED

CONCEPT

How security teams measure what matters, report to leadership, and ke...

35 min →

← Malware: Types, Analysis & De...

Software Security & Secure SDLC...

